

SPACE EXPLORERS

Our story begins with four friends exploring space on the moon.

POW

A problem with the rocket caused our heroes to become stuck on the moon.

Now that we are stuck on the moon, what should
we do, team?

I can make the shelter so that we can have a safe
place.

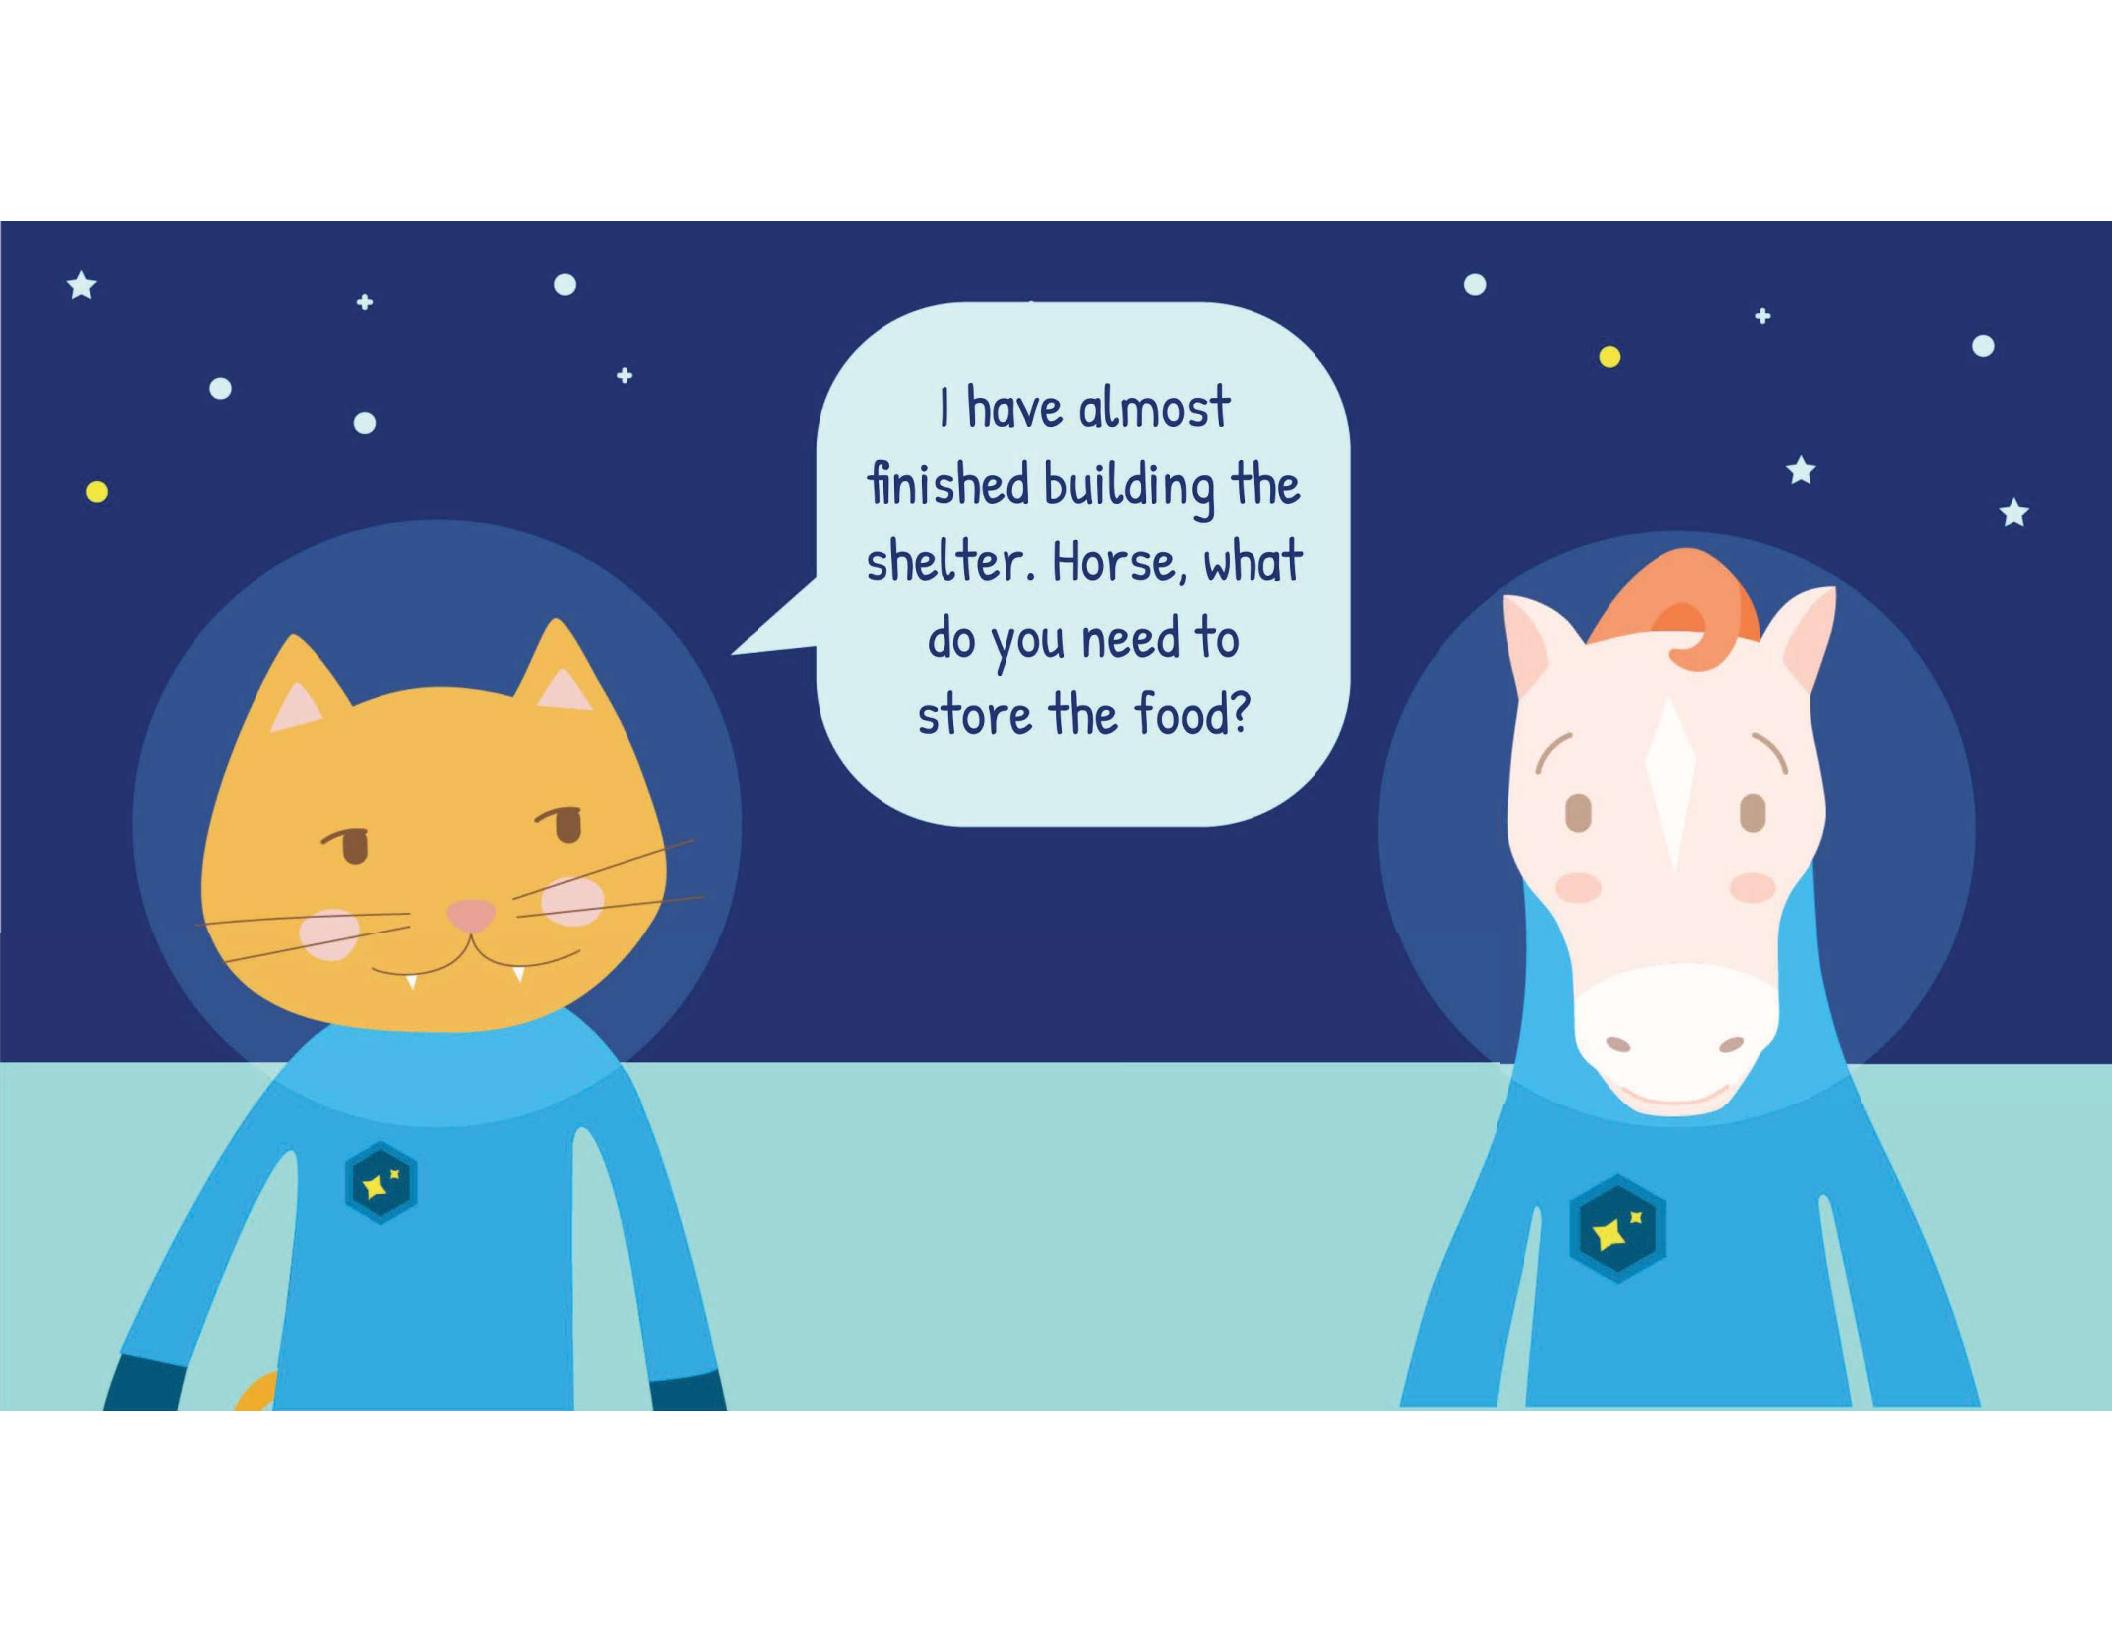

I can plant and grow food. Because of me, we will not go hungry.

I will start to fix the moon rover so that we can get around on the moon.

That sounds great! I will collect the parts of the radio so that we can call home.

I have almost finished building the shelter. Horse, what do you need to store the food?

Thanks, Cat! I
need you to build
me a refrigerator for
the food I am
growing.

A cartoon illustration of two characters in a space-themed setting. On the left, a blue monkey with a white face and a small tuft of hair on its head is wearing a light blue spacesuit with a hexagonal badge on the chest featuring two yellow stars. It has its hands on its hips and is looking towards the right. On the right, a brown bear wearing a similar light blue spacesuit with a hexagonal badge on the chest is also looking towards the left. The background is a dark blue space with various white and yellow stars of different sizes.

Hi, Bear. I just fixed the rover. Did you find all the parts so that I can fix the radio?

These are all the parts I could find.
Am I missing
any?

Yes, you are missing the antenna.

A brown bear and a green monkey are driving a grey moon rover on a light blue surface. They are wearing blue space suits with yellow star patches on the shoulders. The bear is at the wheel, and the monkey is beside him. A speech bubble from the monkey contains the text "I will drive you in the moon rover until we find it." The background is dark blue with white stars of various sizes.

I will drive you in the moon rover until we find it.

Bear drove the moon rover around the wreck of the rocket until suddenly Monkey shouted...

There it is! The antenna! Take me over there!

Monkey ran to grab the antenna.

When Monkey returned, Bear asked...

Can you get the radio working
now?

Yes, but we need to get back to the shelter first.

Bear drove the moon rover
back to the shelter with Monkey.

Welcome back! I have just finished the shelter.

I have just finished growing food, so now we can all eat dinner.

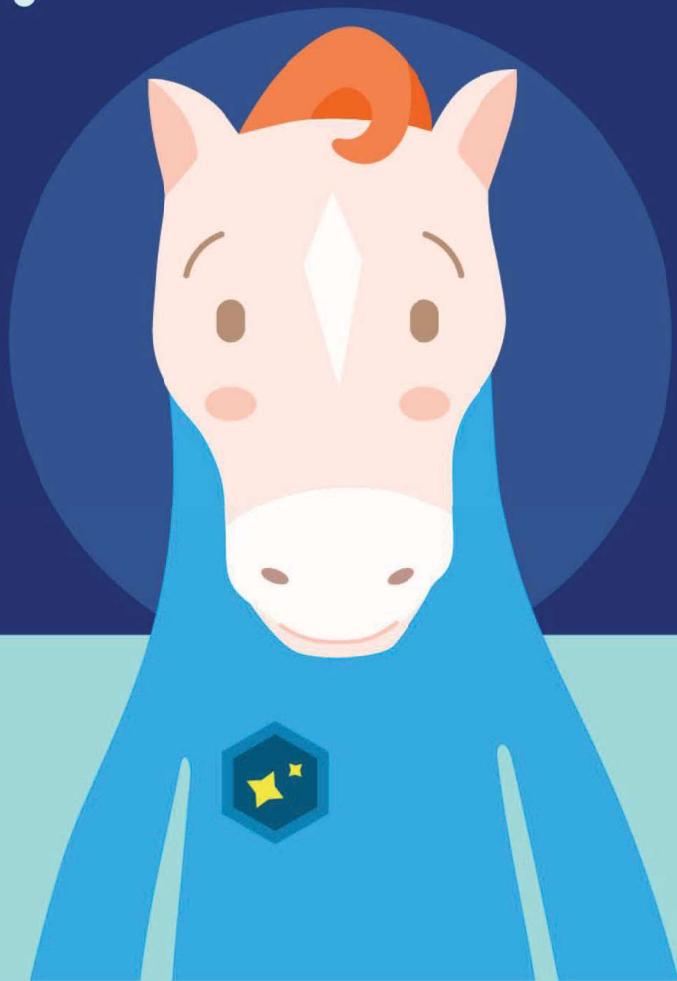

The four friends were glad that they could eat because they all had a long day. Who knows what will happen tomorrow on the moon?
